June 8, 2007

Hello Second Grade Families!

The end of the school year is here! There are many exciting events happening the last week of school—please refer to the calendar on the right side of the page to see what's happening. There is no homework the last week of school.

Wednesday and Thursday the second grade classes have two celebrations planned. Ms. Klein's class is looking for a volunteer to provide popsicles (with a parent from Ms. Thorall's class) on Wednesday, please let her know if you are able to help! Also, please return the "Chocolate from Around the World" sign up sheet if you are able to help with Thursday's taste test.

Finally, we are beginning to pack up our classrooms for our move this summer. Please let us know if you are able to help pack boxes this week.

Have a great weekend!

-Ms. Klein and Ms. Thorall
